Dave Huntsman presents "The Twelve Elements of a Successful Image".

Dave will be our featured speaker at this month's meeting of the Camera Club. He has done so much in photography that I will not attempt to say anything about him, but I strongly urge you to go to his website, <http://www.huntsmanphotography.com/about.html> to see what he has done in the world of photography. We are very fortunate to have his as our guest speaker and we extend a very warm welcome to him.

Club Dues

Your 2013 club dues of $22 single/$28 Family are due at or before the January meeting. Please complete the attached registration form and bring it to the meeting or mail your completed form and payment to Don Mills at the address indicated on the form. You must be a paid member in order to enter any club competitions.

First Thursday....

The First Thursday of the new year started off with a bang! We had 38 people show up for First Thursday, including quite a few new ones.

This meeting was the annual "Camera Petting Zoo". It was for folks to bring cameras/equipment and have a chance to ask any questions they had about anything photographic. We had an expert on both Nikon or Canon at each table to answer questions and just had open discussion on 'how to' do anything.

Put "First Thursday" on you calendar for next month!

February

For February, Lynn and I talked about doing a demo for how to choose your settings-aperture, speed and ISO and how it makes a difference in the photo outcome. We plan to set up some cameras and computers and shoot tethered so they can see the instant results of settings changes.

Special Thanks to..

- Madonna Courtney for meeting arrangements at Fasig Tipton
- Jeff Lackey and John Snell for slide shows and pictures
- All members for attending and the delicious food that was brought.

Outreach Activities

This is a new reporting endeavor to let the club members know who we have reached and will reach regarding photographic information and training.

- Tom Myers spoke to the LASC Discovery folks January 3rd. "I had about 70 at the LASC tonight. I think some of the parents had as much fun as the kids."
- Tom will be in Belize later this month doing a Macro Photography workshop.
- Tom also spoke to the Lexington Lions club in December
- On February 14, Tom is doing a seminar at Purdue University in Indiana: "The entomological wildlife photographer, gearing up and getting down".
- John will speak to the Lexington Computer Society Feb 22
- John will judge at the Louisville Photo Society Feb 9

Pages of History: 80 Years of the Taft

316 Pike Street, Cincinnati, OH 45202
August 10, 2012–January 6, 2013
www.taftmuseum.org/

The Taft Museum of Art opened to the public on November 29, 1932, as a gift to Cincinnatians from founders Anna and Charles Taft. Celebrate the Taft's 80th anniversary with this display of archival documents, letters, news clippings, and historical photographs focusing on important events in the history of the Taft and the historic home's other former residents.

Star Power: Edward Steichen's Glamour Photography

October 12, 2012–January 27, 2013
Edward Steichen was already a famous painter and photographer on both sides of the Atlantic, when he was offered the position of chief photographer for Condé Nast's influential and highly-regarded magazines, Vogue and Vanity Fair. For the next fifteen years, Steichen would take full advantage of the resources and prestige conferred by the Condé Nast empire to produce an oeuvre of unequalled brilliance, putting his exceptional talents and prodigious energies to work dramatizing and glamorizing contemporary culture and its achievers—Crawford, Marlene Dietrich, Katherine Hepburn, Paul Robeson, Gloria Swanson, and Walter Winchell.

Included are Steichen's iconic portraits of famous actors, actresses, painters, producers, athletes, playwrights, poets, dancers, journalists, singers and writers, in addition to numerous fashion photographs. Steichen's crisp, bold, modern style revolutionized fashion photography during the 1920s and 1930s, and greatly influenced his successors in the field, including Richard Avedon, Irving Penn, and Bruce Weber.

works by nearly 80 different photographers, including Ansel Adams, Edward S. Curtis, Annie Griffiths and others. The exhibit also reveals surprises from the National Geographic Image Collection. Many images will be instantly recognizable for their subjects; others less so. Arrayed together, the photographs tell a story about imagination, spectacle, adventure and surpassing beauty, and offer startling views into the daily struggles of people and animals in a vast and often intimidating territory.

James Welling: Monograph

February 02, 2013 to May 05, 2013

Artist James Welling has created beautiful and challenging photographs for over thirty-five years. Operating in the hybrid ground between painting and sculpture and traditional photography, he is a foremost photographic practitioner enthralled with the possibilities of the medium. Since the mid-1970s, Welling's practice has unflaggingly shifted to address an impressive array of issues and ideas: the tenets of realism and transparency, abstraction and representation, optics and description, personal and cultural memory, and the material and chemical nature of photography. His program, in particular, helps refine our definition of a photograph while offering a meaningful new paradigm for contemporary art. Monograph is the first comprehensive exhibition of this singular artist. It witnesses

Welling's sustained relevance and enviable staying power in this field while simultaneously explicating the primary strands that permeate this artist's seemingly disparate oeuvre over three decades.

Robert C. Mays Endowment Lecture Series

Exhibition: February 8 - March 10, 2013
Lecture: March 1, 4 pm
The UK Student Center's Worsham Theater

HANK WILLIS THOMAS, The Cotton Bowl, from the series Strange Fruit, 2011, digital C-print, courtesy of the artist and Jack Shainman Gallery, New York

Employing the visual language of advertising and popular culture, Hank Willis Thomas creates images that are at once immediately accessible and symbolically loaded. Examining the commodification of African American athletes, he presents the familiar Nike symbol as a form of ritual scarification or presents a basketball as a ball and chain. "My work brings history forward through framing our experience of race, class, and gender as conditioned by popular culture then and now," Thomas says. "Ultimately, my goal is to subvert the common perception of 'black history' as somehow separate from American history and to reinstate it as indivisible from the totality of past social, political, and economic occurrences that make up contemporary American culture."
